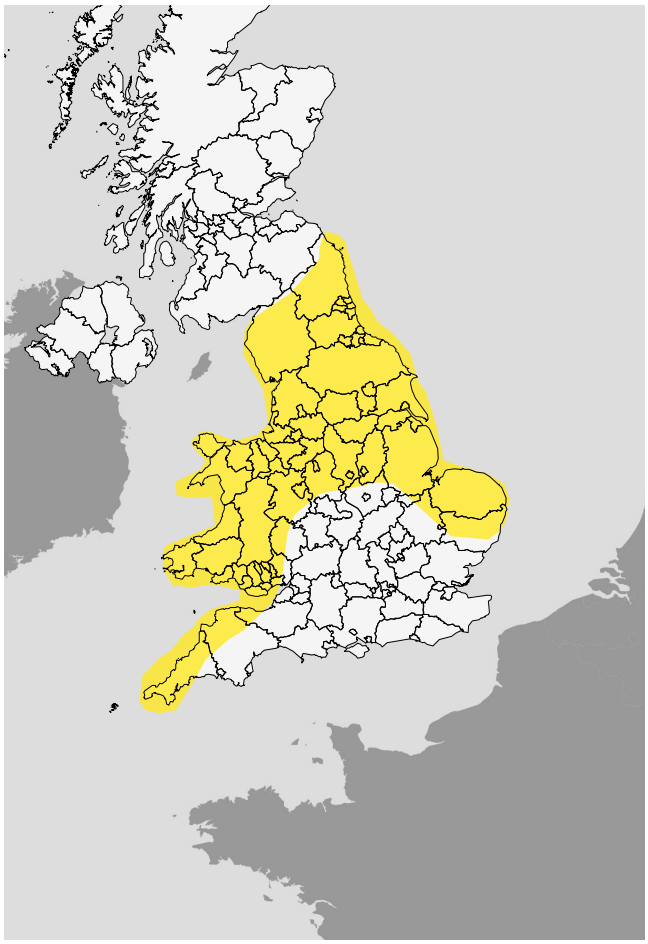
Yellow warning
Ice

Between
17:00 Thu 7 Jan 2021 and
11:00 Fri 8 Jan 2021



Icy stretches are likely to form in places leading to slippery conditions and perhaps some disruption to travel.

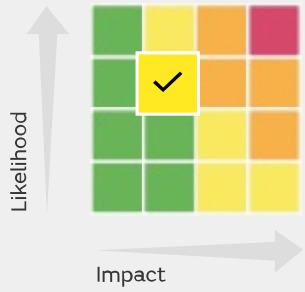
What to expect

- Some injuries from slips and falls on icy surfaces
- Probably some icy patches on some untreated roads, pavements and cycle paths

Further details

Showers, a mixture of rain sleet and snow, are expected to fall onto frozen surfaces leading to icy stretches forming. In addition, a more persistent spell of rain and hill snow is likely to spread south across northern England and north Wales during Thursday evening and night.

Whilst ice is expected to be the main hazard, snow is likely in place too. Snow is most likely to fall over The Pennines, North York Moors and the high ground of Wales, with 1-3 cm possible here. Elsewhere, whilst some snowfall is possible, accumulations are likely to be slight and temporary.



Medium likelihood of low impacts
